DC Advisory advised Mecadaq Group on the acquisition of Hirschler Manufacturing

Mecadaq is an industrial group specialised in the manufacturing and assembling of high-precision mechanical parts for the world's leading aerospace companies. Hirschler Manufacturing, is a US-based company specialised in hard metal machining, producing high-precision mechanical parts made from hard metals such as titanium, stainless steel, and inconel. Hirschler Manufacturing has been a strategic supplier for more than 50 years to large clients in aerospace such as Spirit AeroSystems, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, or Boeing, which has given the company the "supplier silver award".

DC Advisory acted as financial advisor to Mecadaq Group.

The transaction is another step in Mecadaq's consolidation strategy, reinforcing the subcontracting chain in the aerospace supply. By joining the Mecadaq Group, Hirschler Manufacturing brings its customer portfolio, a recognised know-how in producing critical, complex parts, and quality of service. Hirschler Manufacturing is committed to integrating Mecadaq's production activities located in California.
