DC Advisory advised iJET on a capital raise from LLR Partners

ANNAPOLIS, Md.–iJET International, Inc. (iJET), a leading operational risk management solutions provider, today announced the completion of an investment by private equity firm LLR Partners. The financing will be used to grow iJET’s customer base, expand channel partner relationships, invest in enhanced technology and pursue strategic acquisitions.

Capitalizing on its proprietary technology and global network of security and geopolitical experts, iJET delivers customized intelligence, preparedness and response solutions to more than 600 multinational corporations and government organizations.

These solutions enable iJET’s clients to understand their global threat exposure; protect their people, facilities and supply chains; and proactively mitigate risks that could impact operational performance.

iJET’s global intelligence operation monitors and analyzes over 19,000 sources of information spanning more than 200 countries and 25 languages and delivers near real-time intelligence to the right people at the right time via its patented processes. The company tracks over 130 million trips annually for direct clients and travel management partners. Through its global response network, iJET provides on-the-ground security and medical assistance in over 200 countries. iJET also assists enterprises in building and enhancing a tailored operational risk management program through policies, training, exercises and outsourced resources.

Having such a committed financial partner as LLR will allow iJET to accelerate its global growth and leadership in the operational risk management market. The LLR team, including Operating Partner Gus Hunt, who has deep knowledge of our key domains, combined with the expertise of their high-growth technology portfolio companies, will rapidly become competitive assets as we take iJET to the next level.

Bruce McIndoe
President and CEO of iJET

We are extremely pleased to partner with the leadership team of iJET on this investment. Over the past 14 years, iJET has cemented its position as the global leader in operational risk management with world class intelligence, a best-of-breed platform and 24/7 global assistance and response operations. As organizations push more aggressively into international markets, iJET will be there to help protect them on a global scale.
