C. Chris Hastings biography

ABOUT

Chris leads the Private Capital Group as part of our DC Advisory US team with more than 25 years' experience raising capital, having closed more than USD 5 billion in private capital raise over the course of his career. Prior to joining DC, Chris held senior roles at Credit Suisse, Bear Stearns, and Bank of America.

Chris has closed deals for clients in the technology, business services, healthcare and industrial sectors. His strong relationships with marquee growth equity, private equity, family offices and other institutional investors ensure DC matches clients with partners that are best suited to their financing objectives and strategy.

Chris received an M.B.A. from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania and a B.S. in Finance from the Pennsylvania State University.

Chris says: "My experience advising companies on raising growth equity, structured equity and other forms of junior capital from a diverse set of investors helps our clients find the right partner to meet their objectives. In doing so, they are provided with much more than just capital, including HR and marketing expertise, board-level connections, and senior advisory networks, all of which enables them to achieve their next level of growth."
