ABOUT

Alberto was one of the first members of the DC Advisory Italy office, which was established in 2019.

He firstly joined DC in 2014 as part of the graduate scheme in London, where he progressed his career and worked on a number of high-profile deals, mostly cross-border.

Alberto graduated from LSE with a Master's degree in International Management (CEMS).

Alberto says: "Having covered the Italian market from London for quite some time, the opportunity to help set up an office from scratch in Milan sounded incredibly exciting, but also challenging. Thankfully, from the very beginning we have been able to leverage DC's deep sector expertise and global network, something that is quite unique in the mid-market, allowing us to create real value and make a difference for our clients"
