DC Advisory advised Conexiom on its growth investment from Luminate Capital Partners

DC Advisory is pleased to announce that its client Conexiom, the leading provider of cloud-based supply chain document automation software solutions, has received a strategic growth investment from Luminate Capital Partners.

Conexiom's software automates the processing of supply chain documents with 100% accuracy. Leading enterprises, including 10 of the top 25 distributors in North America, have chosen Conexiom to optimize their supply chain processes.

With a partner like Luminate Capital, we can now more quickly drive customer adoption in the manufacturing and distribution markets, expand geographically, and move into other verticals with similar business profiles. We chose Eric Wagner and the DCS Advisory team to advise us during this process for their deep understanding of our space and strong relationships with private equity. They offered expert guidance each step of the way and connected us with the right partner for this next phase of our company's growth.
